The All Season Solar Controller

With a view that is worth a million dollars, the Trimbles of Red Deer did not want to lose even a dollars worth of it. But the view came with a price. The two issues of concern were heat loss in the winter and heat gain in the summer. Issues that are hard on the pocket book!

The IN'FLECTOR Panels do not restrict the impressive view from their home. In fact they act like sunglasses for the windows in that they offer 92% UV protection and greatly reduce glare. Now, during the winter, they do not feel that cold sensation radiating from the large windows in the living room or family room, making it much easier to enjoy the rooms any time of the day.

The first thing that happened when the panels were installed? The old Venetian blinds were removed. They no longer needed to hide from the early morning sun and heat buildup inside their home during the AM hours.

With the panels rejecting 72% of radiant heat, the sun no longer heats up their home at any time of the day and they enjoy all the natural light that their home was designed to provide. With the black side facing outward, the clean mirror look offers complete daytime privacy from peering eyes, while greatly reducing heat loss through the large window.

Whether it is a special shape or in your favorite space that is shared with plants, the panels offer so many benefits. IN'FLECTOR Panels provide both solid energy savings and greatly improved creature comfort.
